

News about Members

Robert J Bonk recently left his position as manager of medical communications for Zeneca Pharmaceuticals in Wilmington, Delaware, where he had been employed for 2 decades. He now holds positions of adjunct associate professor at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science and the University of Delaware. Later this year, his new book, Medical Writing in Drug Development: A Practical Guide for Pharmaceutical Research, will be published by The Haworth Press, Inc.

Aage R Moller, editor of Hearing Research and author of numerous scientific books, recently moved to The University of Texas at Dallas School of Human Development, where he is professor of communication disorders at the Center for Communication Disorders and holds the Margaret Fonde Jonsson Endowed Chair.

Dennis R Schonewetter has become the president and chief executive officer of the Canterbury Press. Located in Rome, New York, Canterbury Press has been providing printing services to publishers for over half a century.