

Introductions: New CBE Staff

The Council of Biology Editors is pleased to welcome its new administrative staff. All 3 members are at Drohan Management Group (DMG), which has served as CBE headquarters since June.

Kathy Hoskins, CBE Executive Director

Kathy Hoskins, an executive director at DMG, has extensive background in association work. Her experience spans many aspects of the field, including marketing, membership development, conference planning, and board and committee support.

Hoskins

Before joining DMG, Kathy was employed at the National Association of Secondary School Principals, where she coordinated training programs and assisted with publications, research, inservice programs, and special projects. She also prepared and implemented career-center services and developed training materials.

Kathy also has worked for MultiServices USA, a third-party customer-service company. There she was involved in coordinating meetings and conferences, researching development projects, and designing client presentations and company publications.

Stephanie Huenink, CBE Administrator
Stephanie Huenink has done work at DMG for several associations, including the International Business Brokers Association (IBBA), the National Renal Administrators Association (NRAA), and the Eastern North American Region of the International Biometrics Society (ENAR). Her responsibilities have included day-to-day contact with members to answer questions on membership and education. She also has helped to coordinate annual conferences and meetings.

Recently, Stephanie was promoted to the position of administrator for CBE. In this role, she oversees all logistic aspects of meetings, conferences, and educational programs. She also is involved with membership issues, publication orders, and accuracy of files and reports.

Abby Goldstein, Administrative Assistant
Abby Goldstein recently joined DMG as administrative assistant for CBE, NRAA, and ENAR. She is responsible for answering member queries, processing dues and conference registration fees, and welcoming new and prospective CBE members.

Previously, Abby worked for the Society of American Foresters, where she edited and loaded information onto the society's Web site. She also participated in planning and project development for the society's centennial celebration.
