

News About Members

Sally Edwards has been promoted to director of publications at the Health Effects Institute, Cambridge, MA. She had been managing editor at the institute.

Sue Keller, University of Alaska Sea Grant publications manager, received the 2000 Award of Excellence in publishing from Agricultural Communicators in Education. Keller was selected for the award for her leadership in the organization and creative contributions to the communication profession. She received the award in Washington DC in July.

Elmer H Marth, emeritus professor of food science, of bacteriology, and of food microbiology and toxicology at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, recently received the NFPA (National Food Processors Association) Food Safety Award from the International Association for Food Protection. Marth was honored for long-term excellence in contributions to food safety through research, teaching, public service, and publications. In addition to his university duties, he served from 1967 to 1987 as editor of the Journal of Food Protection.

Faith McLellan has joined Praxis Press Inc as editorial director. She can be reached at 36 W 25th Street, 7th Floor, New York, NY 10010; telephone 212-366-4900, ext 234; fax 212-366-5400; e-mail faith@praxispress.com.

John Overbeke, executive editor of the Nederlands Tijdschrift voor Geneeskunde (Dutch Journal of Medicine), has been named professor of theory of medical-scientific reporting in the Faculty of Medical Sciences, University of Nijmegen. He delivered his inaugural address on 16 June 2000.

Vicki Sullivan, previously of Lippincott Williams & Wilkins, is now production manager at Impressions Book and Journal Services. She can be reached at Impressions, 2016 Winnebago Street, Madison, WI 53704-5317; telephone 608-244-6218; fax 608-244-7050; e-mail vsullivan@impressions.com.

Four CSE members were honored at the American Medical Writers Association (AMWA) 2000 annual conference, held in Miami in November. Anne Hudson Jones, professor at the Institute for the Medical Humanities at the University of Texas Medical Branch and a founding editor of the journal Literature and Medicine, received the Harold Swanberg Distinguished Service Award, presented annually to a member who has made distinguished contributions to medical communication or to the medical profession. Mary E Knatterud, research associate and assistant professor at the University of Minnesota Medical School, and Nancy D Taylor, medical research writer with the Greenville Hospital System, were named fellows of AMWA. Catherine D De Angelis, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, was named an honorary fellow.