

◆ 2006-2007 Council of Science Editors Board

Monica Bradford was installed on 21 May as president of the Council of Science Editors for the 2006-2007 term. Bradford, a member since 1983, has been a speaker and moderator at CSE annual meetings. She has served on the Nominating Committee, Annual Meeting Program Committee, and Public Affairs Committee. She is executive editor of Science.

Monica Bradford

Newly Elected

Diane Scott-Lichter, vice president and publisher, Blackwell Publishing, has been elected CSE vice president for 2006-2007. Scott-Lichter, who joined the Council in 1987, has chaired the Annual Meeting Program Committee, Sponsorship Committee, Membership Committee, and Editorial Policy Committee. She also has served as speaker and reporter at various annual meetings of the Council.

Diane Scott-Lichter

Anna G Trudgett, managing editor of Blood, has been elected treasurer-elect. A member since 1999, she has served on the Editorial Policy Committee and the Annual Meeting Program Committee.

In addition, she has taught in the short course on electronic publishing solutions and has organized and moderated several annual-meeting sessions.

Anna G Trudgett

Christine Arturo, acquisitions and program manager, American Academy of Ophthalmology, has been elected a director of CSE.

Arturo, who joined the Council in 1995, has chaired the Annual Meeting Program Committee,

Christine Arturo

served on the Awards and Honors Committee, taught in the short course for managing editors, and spoken at annual meetings.

Continuing on the Board

Ana Marusic, editor, Croatian Medical Journal, has ascended from vice president to president-elect.

Diane Berneath Lang, assistant director of publications-editorial, Radiological Society of North America, continues as secretary.

Frank Stumpf, president and chief operating officer, SPI Publisher Services, has ascended to treasurer.

Jessica Ancker, biostatistics instructor and PhD candidate, Department of Biomedical Informatics, Columbia University, and Diane Sullenberger, executive editor, Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences (PNAS), continue as directors.

Richard Horton, editor, The Lancet, remains on the board as immediate past president.